SC ON SPECIAL INTENSIVE REVISION OF THE ELECTORAL ROLL IN BIHAR

'More papers to be accepted... voter-friendly, not exclusionary'

ANANTHAKRISHNAN G
New Delhi, August 13

HEARING PETITIONS CHALLENGING the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of the electoral roll in Bihar, the Supreme Court said Wednesday that the Election Commission (EC) expanding the list of documents accepted for proof of identity to 11, compared to only seven for the summary revision in Jharkhand earlier, showed that the process is "voter-friendly and not voter-exclusionary".

A bench of Justices Surya Kant and Joydip Bagchi also said that according to Section 21 of the Representation of the People Act, 1950, "it is totally within the subjective domain" of the EC on "how, when" it would "go for a special (intensive) revision".

"The documents for the summary exercise compared to the enumeration form as of now, more or less overlap with something more... They are expanding the number of documents of identity... We understand your exclusionary argument may be with regard to Aadhaar, but the expansion of the number of documents from what was followed in a summary revision to an intensive revision is, in fact, voter-friendly and not voter-exclusionary. It gives you more options," Justice Bagchi said.

"See, it is seven items (in 2003). And now there are 11 items from which you can identify yourself as a citizen," the judge said.

"If somebody says all 11 documents are required, then it would be an anti-voter approach. But if it says give a long list of documents and say give any document which is reliable..." remarked Justice Kant.

The court's remarks followed a contention from Senior Advocate A M Singhvi, appearing for the petitioners, that the SIR process was exclusionary.

Reiterating his argument, Singhvi said Aadhaar, which has the widest coverage in Bihar and elsewhere, is excluded from the list of acceptable documents but the Indian passport, which has less than 1-2% coverage, is included. Water, electricity, gas connection too are excluded, he said. "What's happening is in number terms, you are retaining to impress. But what is the nature of the document you want? The nature is minimum coverage document," he said.

Singhvi also referred to the February 6, 1995 Supreme Court ruling (Lal Babu Hussein & Others vs Electoral Registration Officer & Others), which said that where a name already entered is required to be deleted, it must be presumed that before entering the name the concerned officer must have gone through the procedural requirements under the statute. The senior counsel argued that therefore, procedure has to be followed before deleting any name. "First of all there must be an objection," he submitted.

Singhvi also questioned the timing of the SIR exercise.

Talks on in Armed Forces to up retention of Agniveers

THE ARMED FORCES are discussing a reassessment of the Agniveer scheme, keeping in mind the requirement for an ideal ratio between technically proficient and trained manpower and a reduced age profile of soldiers in the military, it has been learnt. The services have been periodically reviewing the scheme — for recruitment of soldiers, airmen and sailors for a limited period of four years — ever since it was introduced in 2022. While there have been discussions between the services and the Department of Military Affairs on possible tweaks, no major changes have been cleared so far. However, as per sources, following Operation Sindoor in May, there have been talks on increasing the retention of Agniveers, based on factors such as training, experience and expertise acquired by them in their four years. ENS

From Raj to TN & Odisha, states push small reforms

AGGAM WALIA & SOUMYARENDRA BARIK
New Delhi, August 13

OVER THE LAST few months, Rajasthan eased restrictions on night shifts for women, Odisha spruced up building-by-laws so that small enterprises can use space more efficiently, and Tamil Nadu increased the number of industries for which entrepreneurs need not knock at the pollution control boards.

Across India, states are advancing small, targeted reforms to cut red tape. While sweeping national reforms inch forward despite renewed calls for bold reforms amid tariff tensions, states are leading the way.

The Centre is helping nudge them towards deregulation, but states seem to be on board with the perceived benefits of these steps. The trend reflects a growing view at the highest levels of the Centre that progressive, state-level tweaks—faster to implement—should be prioritised for now.
